CAGE E 449 . G 797 1856

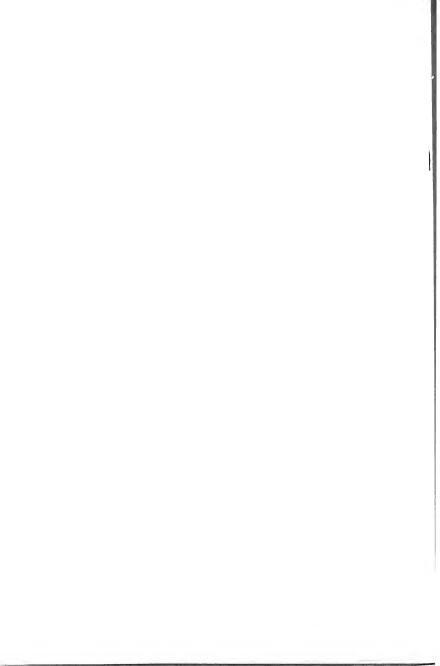

Approximate the second second

A STATE OF THE STA

A PAMPHLET

EQUAL RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES,

People of the United States.

SAMUEL BAGREEN,

ANDREW COUNTY, NOVEMBER 1, 1856.

IRINTED BY PROUTS AND CUMDIFF—GARETTE OFFICE. ST. JOSEFH, MO. 1857.

A PAMPHLET

ON

EQUAL RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES.

The time has at length arrived, when perate wild beast, after having defeated yet smoking with the blood of martyrs insignificance. for for travellers, almost exhausted by their oppressions, the vicis situdes of time and all kinds of $^{\circ}$. Let us commence the work of reform-

it becomes necessary and right for us, as his pursuers, with much loss of blood, discreet and virilent watchinen of our watch, with increased anxiety, and with liberties, to cast up our accounts and see eyes like glaring balls of fire, ready to if we have not suffered ourselves to pounce on his enemy. But that feeling squander, with producal waste, what our was of short duration, and the time soon forefathers accumulated with toil. Here arrives when a dark cloud is seen at a they fled from the land of oppression distance in the North, which began to and sought that protection and liberty/cover our political horizon, filled with that was denied to them in their native all the elements necessary to complete land, with no shelter, save the wide can- our destruction. There lived amongst ony of heaven; no cheering voices to us, at that time, men who have since buoy them up in the dark hour of dis- passed to that bourne from whence no may, save the war-whoop of the savage, (traveller returns, who warned us, with and the howlings of wild beasts; no one more than paternal admonition, against to rely on for protection, save our com- the impending danger, and implored us mon Parent. In those days of despair, to buckle on the armor of virtue, and to in that hour of darkness, a star appear- (maintain, in common, all the blessings ed in the east, and soon attracts the ob- bequeathed to us by our forefathers.servation of millions on foreign shores, They then invoked the aid of patriotic that illuminated our paths through the departed souls to hover around us and dark valley of oppression, and conducted intercede for the preservation of those us, triumphantly, to the blessings of lib-blessings they achieved, but all in vain; erty and independence; that star was our their supplications have passed alike unimmortal Washington, who, with his heeded by all, save the ghosts of our patriotic band, went shoulder to shoulder revolutionary sires, who yet present and planted the tree of liberty in our themselves to our imagination, all covmidst and put to flight our most deadly (ered with wounds, reiterating in our fees, with no other star to guide them, ears to rally around the standard of libsave the thirst for liberty. They light erty and to defend the constitution. The an their political horizon, lately envel-filoodgates of destruction have been raisoped in darkness, with the lamp of free- ed by our enemies, and, unless stopped, dom and independence. No demon of will sooner or later sink our happy land fanaticism then stalked through the land, and institutions into the lowest gulf of Methinks I hear the of liberty; no ambitious, lawless aspi- confused murmurings and fearful forerants to office, who would, with giant bodings of the oppressed nations of the strides, crush down the laws of their earth. They, too, would drop a tear of country; no syren, melodious voice to sorrow at seeing their only assylum no create sectional jars and divisions; no longer to them a place of safety. No attempt, on the part of old England, so longer would we be held out as a beacon lately chastised, to make us stain our of light, by the reflections of which they hands in a brother's blood. No, like the might, sooner or later, be released from exposure, they become mutually attach- ation, and, like diligent physicians, exed to each other, after having arrived in amine the cause of the disease, and the port of safety, would, like some des- while there is life let us not dispair; let Let us picture, in glowing terms, to the them out to posterity as the brightes: imagination of our aggressors the injuries constellation in the firmament of fame we have received at their hands; let us Away, then, with such false pretences. unfold to their view, in the most pathet- (As well might Julius Cæsar have attribic manner, the ties of consanguinity that uted the downfall of Rome to foreign they have rent asunder, the holy league (influence, when he crossed the Rubicon of paternal union that they have attemp- and trampled under foot the laws of his ted to violate; let us present to their dis- country. As well might a disease 16 ordered imaginations old England, our the heart, that has caused a form of gicommon enemy, our unnatural parent, gantic strength to mingle with its mountains has farned the flame of discord er dust, be attributable to the action of amongst us, and with whom it has ever the fingers and toes, that move only foreigners to this country, in the wildest by her insinuating address, although flight of the imagination, be considered, sometimes repulsed, at last made ner dominion, and it is not until time and a Can their sons disgrace their sires by quard, and he ceases to use vigilance, wrong? Is there yet no surviving pa our medicine be entreaties for the tude has a seat in our breasts, so long healthy restoration of the body-politic. - will we cherish their memory, and point been characteristic to appease her jeal-through the agency and instrumentality ousy with the blood of her deluded and of the heart's blood of life. No, ambition infatuated victim. Shall emigration of with her uncomely and motly crew has. in anywise, conductive towards bringing entrance and invaded the high temple about the present state of things. No, of justice and liberty, erected by our foreign influence is now, as it was in the foretathers and converted it into a denoting the converted it into a denoting good days of old: they were then in a thieves. Is there yet no balm in Gilemanner all foreigners. A man just fled ad, and is there no physician there2from the land of oppression, is the last Where are the descendants of that illasbeing on earth to suspect of voluntarily) trious band once in the North, that helprivetting on himself his old manacles of ed to seal our Union with their blood? chain of circumstances throw him off his being the authors of their country's that he is in most danger. It is very triot sire whose imagination of former natural for a wise and discreet son, who times is fresh, that could lay bare has feels his bosom warmed by the tenderest enmittated frame, worn down by the conemotions of filial duty, to believe a pas suming tooth of time, and point them to cent right, when he is sight, and to the battle-ground, all covered with gore, make his course through life the stand- and call on them to rally around the and of his a tions. Such should be our standard of liberty and to defend the confeeling; in relation to our forefathers .- stitution. Massachusetts was amongst There can be no ambition, however the first to unfur! the banner of indegrasping, that should aspire to be either pendence. On the 15th July, 1776, greater or more patriotic. Were they Gen. Putnam unfurled the banner at able to govern themselves? Yes: their Cambridge, on the joyful occasion of the noble deces have entwined around their reception, in that town, of the declarabrows wreaths of glory that will remain tion of independence, bearing the mottoanimapaired until time is no more. Is on one side, an appeal to Heaven; on there an American citizen, so to feeling the other side "Qvi transtatil sustinct." dead, whose bosom never has been Tais same Massachusetts has so far dewarmed with the Liveliest emotions of scended from Ler pristing parity as to gravitely towards the gullant band of have been one amongst the most active foreigners who warmed our once desert States that has produced the deadly hosplains with their generous bleed: can tility that now exists between the North that summathy, showed to us in the day and the South, on the subject of negro of our adversity, in the cause of our mu- slavery. All who know any thing of anal struggle for liberty; can their de-our revolutionary struggles with old seried homes, carrying with them no England know that it was conducted meentive to action, save the thirst to be under the auspices of the old Continental in revengers of our cause, ever be Congress, which acted under the authorobliterated by time? No; so long as the ity of the articles of confederation, conlove of liberty is cherished, and grati- stituting but a very imperfect bond of axion between the States. It was the control of their guardians, they possess-: different kind.

pressure from without, and a sense of ing all the rights of their fathers. But, common danger, that kept the States to- nevertheless, the guardianship of Conegether, and the moment that pressure gress never ceases—it was appointed for was removed, the confederation was no limited time or period. True it is. about to be dissolved into its original el-) when a Territory is admitted into the ements, and even then there were no Union as a State, she may be said to be corruples expressed as to whether slaves out of the control of her guardian, Conand their owners were not alike protec-) gress, but only to a very limited extent. ed with citizens possessing property of But it cannot be said that a part possesses all the rights of their fathers, which The preamble of our constitution says, was not lavished on one part but to be that the object in forming a new govern-jequally divided. If any number or the ment was to form a perfect union between \ whole of said children, having arrived at the States, establish justice, insure do-) twenty-one years of age, is satisfied to mestic tranquility, provide for the com- receive, each one of their said guardian. mon defence, promote the general wel-the equal proportion allotted to each unfire and to secure the blessings of liber- der their father's will, in that case there ty to ourselves and posterity. Section would be no cause or good reason for this . Ed. of article 1th, says that the citizens guardian to interpose, but in case of a in each State shall be entitled to all the palpable violation of said will, or a want privileges and immunities of citizens in of strict adherence and fidelity to all of the several States. Our constitution its principles by either heir or heirs, then throughout breathes a spirit of equal pro- he or they would be placed just as much tection to all of our citizens, regardless under and as subject to said guardian as of the kind of property they may be pos- though they were infant heirs. I conressed of, if honestly acquired. If our sider the blessings conferred on us by constitution expresses no doubt as to our our constitution similar in their character perfect equality in all the rights and to an estate composed of different varieprivileges of our government and pro-fries of property, left by a father to be tects us in our rights to follow any occu-) equally divided between his children, and pation we may most desire, with the pri- so ingeniously fixed as to descend in the vilege of accumulating any kind of prop-) same undiminished equal distribution to erty that in our wisdom we may deem the latest posterity, and so entailed that most salutary to our interest, it would neither child can have it in his power of then necessarily appear that there can disposing of his interest or parting with he no power vested with the right to pass it in any way, one to another, and if such any taws in opposition to the full spirit) a thing did happen, in violation of said and meaning of that instrument, and that will, whereby one portion of said family neither Congress nor the people in a was entirely robbed by the other, or even State or Terrnory have any right to say obtained it by the consent of the sufferer. whether it shall be a free or slave State, it would neither make the one richer or has open to the reception of all Ameri-the other peorer, because the guardian can offizen slave holders and non clave-) appointed to carry out said will would holders. Under our constitution they all discover that they had been dabbling go there with equal rights and privileges, with property intended forever to be kept Neither party can, without conflicting sacred. The guardian, under such cirwith its principles, exclude the other cumstances, being fully clothed with the party, as in either case there would be power and sworn to support the will, has one party agrieved, when both are made (full power to enforce it and to lay hold of equal under the constitution. The Ter property so extorted from the bands of ritories are the property of the United one brother into another, and apply it States and under the guardianship of or return it just where it was at first, Congress, and subject to such laws as which is to descend to his and their pos-Congress chooses to provide for them or terity in like undivided manner, subject permit them to make for themselves un- to be recovered in like manner, under til they become States. The children whatever circumstances it may be parthave then arrived at twenty-one years of ed with. The fact of a part of said sous age and might be said to be out of the being absent and a part being present at tract of land estate was to take place, and weight below the petty laws of the would not give those who might be pres- land? Is one State permitted so to torent any advantage over their absent bro-{ture it as to strip a part of its citizens of thers, but when they returned they would their rights? The framers of this conhave a right to demand of their guardi- stitution declare, in the most emphaticans the same equitable proportion that language, that it is the supreme law of they would have received if there at the the land and all laws made in pursuance time of the division. The citizens of the thereof. A conspicuous feature in this United States, agreeably to the full spir- will is, declaring all entitled to equal it of the constitution, are all equalty pro- rights and privileges. It now remainstected in their honest occupations and all, to examine the portion received by the guaranteed to have equal rights and prive heirs and see if there has not been a tofleges. It would appear, if Kansas was tal departure from duty on the part of the made a free State or slave State, that it guardian sworn to support the will which would be done to the exclusion of mem-, makes each heir entitled to the same,bers of the same family, all of whom, un-; If a majority in one State has a right to der the constitution, have the same right, agitate one settled principle of the con-A man living in Texas would have just stitution and thereby refuse to admit as as good a right, under the constitution, residents in a State heirs who have an to take his negroes there as he would equal claim, under the constitution to have to stay in Texas; and on the other all the rights and privileges, and to drive hand if it is made a slave State a man from the limits of a State all who may from the North would have just as good own a kind of property not congenial toa right to go there as he has to stay in the wishes of the majority in said State, the North. Their claims would be just, then I would say that the same majority as equitable as the claims of absent leg- would have the right to abolish the right atees to an estate in which all have to be we all possess, of trial by jury. If a equal. The constitution of the United State has a right to agitate one settled States guarantees to every State in the principle of the constitution and contilet Union a republican form of government, with its principles, they have the right to I should like to see a republican govern- act upon another. ment fully portrayed in all of its beautiful forms, that would force an American sess, any right to legislate either as to citizen to leave the country of his adop- the extension or restriction of slavery in tion because he happened to own a kind a Territory. She has no power to inof property not suited and adapted to the crease or lessen its limits, no more than wishes of the majority of fanaties in one a common guardian has the power to State. It is ridiculous to suppose that increase or diminish an estate which be our constitution has clothed one portion is bound to divide equally between heirs, of American citizens with the exercise and she has just as good a right to reof greater powers or privileges than an- peal all laws and compromises made by other, and if it is true that we are all the exercise of a power that she never equally protected and all entitled to equal possessed, as a rogue has to return storights and privileges, then Missouri has len goods to their proper owner. They just as good a right to exclude a man were all conceived in the same spirit of from the North, with his property, as they asurpation, nurtured in the same bosom would have a right to exclude and drive, of aggression, and matured by god frunfrom their State a Missourian with his ers all of like characters. Hasthis guarnegroes. The fundamental principle dian - Congress, that has the power to of all law is founded upon the broad admit a State into the Union, no more ground or justice and will not tolerate to do with it? If she possesses no powexrongs either intentionally or erroneous- er to extend or lessen the limits, can ly committed between individuals, but she, when she is sworn to support the stands in bold exhibit an unimpaired constitution and make all equals, has the monument of justice ever willing to do a right, at that critical moment, the justice to all. Can it be supposed that heirs all being of age, and each one deour glorious constitution is more rotten manding his proportion agreeably to the and more treacherous to our interest?-- will, to lose sight of that instrument and a certain time when a division of a small. Has this model of wisdom fallen in stand-

Congress does not, nor never did pos-even to agitate or throw in the doubtful contrary. stone upon which the whole superstruct congenial to their wishes. ture of our liberties is founded.

to turn the heirs loose, and with tacit in- would be denying to the States the exerdulgence to suffer each one to scramble eise of their rights, but far otherwise .-for himself and for the majority to rule It is only denying to them the power to the minority out of their equitable pro- conflict with the settled principles of portion? or is she not bound to admit a the constitution for the good of the whole. State into the Union, free to all Amer- As well might an heir to a part of an ican citizens, regardless of the kind of estate complain of not having justice renproperty they may be possessed of, lea- dered him, having received the equiving it to the option of the people of the table proportion promised by his father's entire mass to follow any occupation they will, because he was not permitted to most desire, with the right of accumula- rob his other brothers, all of whom were ting any property, either in the shape of made equal. No, it is one State, so far negroes or any other property, and there (from being robbed of her vested rights. to live and remain sheltered by the benign that has not been permitted to violate the influence of our constitution, that affords all settled principles of the constitution, equal protection. If Congress has no right which were laid down as cardinal points to legislate either upon the restriction or for every American citizen to be govextension of slavery in a Territory, where eined by, up to which they have a right did a State get a right to legislate upon to go, but never to pass. The President private property? The constitution says of the United States is another guardian the powers not delegated to the United of the People, and is fully vested with States nor prohibited by it to the States the power of having all laws executed are reserved to the States respectively that are made in pursuance to the Conor to the people. The constitution, in stitution, and being sworn to support the this case, just means what is clearly ex- Constitution, possesses the right to oppressed therein, that the States or peo- pose, by direct prohibition, any law ple are vested with the right of exer-made in opposition to the full spirit and cising all powers not prohibited by the meaning of that instrument, and it is by constitution. That is conclusive. The and through those, our guardians, that right is not prohibibited to a State to the public domain is purchased. It must make her State laws and consequently be through the same channel that the each State possesses that right, provided, distribution is made, and that distribunevertheless, that a State, in the pass-)tion can only be made equitable by strictage of her laws, does not conflict with ly adhering to the will that hath drawn the settled principles of the constitution; no line of discrimination between any of the United States. There are set- sect or party, but recognizes public land tled principles of the constitution therein as public property, open on equal terms fully expressed for the good of the whole, to all American citizens, regardless of the enumeration of which amounts to the kind of property they may be posprohibition, that neither Congress and sessed of, and beyond the reach of any much less a state, has a shadow of right controlling influence of state laws to the To say otherwise, would be shape of controversy, but laid down as to assume the position that it is not pubimmutable, settled principles, and by lic property, but only open to a certain which every American citizen should class who happen to be blessed with the be governed. There is no settled prin-right kind of property qualifications, ciple in the constitution more clearly ex- who possess the power to remove, at pressed than that declairing that all are their option, any American citizen, entitled to equal rights and privileges however good he may be, if it is his misand immunities. That is the very arch- fortune to own a kind of property not Our stution protects all religious denominaconstitution is replete throughout with a tions in the right to worship the Supreme spirit of equal protection to every Amer- Being in their own way and after their ican citizen, and like the pointed dag- own forms. If a majority in Congress, ger, is directed to the hearts of tyrants, or in one State, in direct opposition to robs royalty of its base attributes and the full spirit and meaning of the Conhurls kings from their massy thrones .-- stitution, that says we are entitled to But it may be said that that doctrine equal rights and privileges, has the power to drive a citizen from a State or Ter-; of the United States, and not entitled to . ritory in consequence of being the own- his full share of protection, and was not ers of property, and of a kind not of their an equal participant in all the rights. choice, by the same process of rea-(privileges and immunities of our counsoning, the same majority would have a try, then he, under these circumstances. right to remove a good citizen from one would have to bow with implicit obedi-State or Territory, who might be so un- ence to the mandates of his rulers whe fortunate as to entertain religious no- had imposed upon him such binding and the other.

tions at variance with theirs. What, unequal conditions. Let us take a now, is the difference? A man with his glance at the spirit of extermination that property is just as much protected under now stalks with destructive influence the Constitution as a man is with his rethrough our land. We have the painligious views. They are both American ful testimony before us, a case of a body crizens; no line of discrimination drawn (of armed men, well disciplined and orby which one claims any advantage over ganized, suffered to pass with impunity through the United States and to wage There is a Roman Catholic that I do civil war. To what circumstance shall not like; he entertains religious notions we attribute this startling state of things. at variance with mine-he must leave, for American citizens, connected by ail There, also, is a man who owns negroes ties of consanguinity and all the social that I don't like-he must leave also .- relations of life, and by all the recellec-If the man owning slaves is driven off tions of former mutual struggles for our by the exercise of the same right, they liberty, now ready to bury in oblivion can drive from any state or territory the 'all former ties, and to stain their hands Catholic. The one owns property that in a brother's blood. Is it only a slight they disapprove of, and the other enter indisposition on the part of the body tains religious views at variance with politic that will wear away of its owntheirs. Suppose there is at this time a accord, without the application of any sufficiency of negro-holders in Kansas remedy; no, it is that worm of destructo make it a slave state, and it is made tion that hever dr. s. that has, with loating a slave state, and there happens to set- ful steps, scatted heelf in the heart of our tle a man who owns no negroes; he en- body politic. It is that assnoyer of the ters a quarter section of land, and is peace and happiness of the Fuman famsurrounded with all the comforts of life ily that has deposed innocence and the calculated to insure ease in his decline tue and position from their unassummer ing years; a deputation waits on him, positions, subverted empires, made rivand, after disposing of some of the forms ers of blood to flow, and writer the and ceremonies of the day, and used in hearts of the widow and the on hon with this case as a preface to the wrongs litter arguish. No, it is an attempt on they were about to inflict upon him, - the part of one party to each 'e the other "Sir, the laws of our state authorise us or from being count sharers in the bassto apprise you that this cannot be your sings of their a moron country, and to abiding place; we have flocked here as make property qualifications the test by negro-holders and made it a slave state. which an individual is either suffered to We prefer negro tabor to having white remain in the laid of his fathers, or exmen, and we also prefer mules to horses, conded, as the case nay be. It is an at-Now we are satisfied that our choice in tempt on the part of one party to way: these particulars has reached your ears, the flag of trium pl. over the other, in and it is moreover desired and determin- matters wherein both are recognised as ed upon that you are to leave immedi- equal under the laws of their country: ately, for we see that you work white but only destroy that feature in our conhands, fine horses and caule, knowing, stitution that offerly equal protection to as you must do, that we are working ne- all, and all would be lost that is wor'n groes and mules, and thereby holding preserving. Like cruses have, and toout a spirit of rebellion and resistance to ways will produce like effects, and we our laws." If this persecuted individual, will pass of like all other nations of the if in the nature of things it was possible (earth who have been governed by the for this man to be a citizen of one state same precedent. Friendly relations only, and at the same time not a citizen between individuals jointly interested in scale.

qualifications. They do rights. to every American citizen. not object to a man coming from the " there are two kinds of American citi- to them by the constitution? the exclusion of the former.

any enterprise, are alone sustained by a , ed that it does possess that right, how, strict reciprocity of good feeling enter-and under what circumstances, is the tained by each to one another, and a question, does Congress acc in obediconcurrence of opinion in all those lead- ence to the high obligation imposed by ing principles, dictated by common the constitution, to throw it open in a sense and justice, a departure from way, and manner, thereby suffering the which, by either party, would be equally majority to rule the minority out of their injurious to both parties, and would not rights, and rights that Congress was aponly be in opposition to their interest, pointed as their guardian to protect, and but sooner or later would be the means to measure to each one his full share of of dissolving a firm, neither of whom, justice, and to place them beyond the individually, would be able to pursue the usurping influence of state laws? Will same business upon his own means and it be contended that Congress has faithresponsibility, but, when united, were fully executed her trust, and legislated enabled to compete with and overcome for the good of the whole, when she adtheir older opponents. When states are mits a state into the Union, as a sister so disaffected, one towards another, state, and then surrenders all power to whose interests are identified, they are the state thus admitted-leaves the hours the on the retrograde, only on a larger on the estate that should have been divided equally between them-and be-When a state is made a slave state, it (holds in the struggle for the ascendancy has no tendency, nor ever had, to in- with tacit acquiescence, the the majoriluce slave holders to the belief that they ty excluding the minority, and at length were the entire owners of the public do- the entire owners of property that all main within the limits of said state to the ; were equally entitled to? Congress, as entire exclusion of any and every body guardian for the whole people of the who wished to settle there, who did not United States, and sworn to support the bring with them the requisite property constitution, which declares that all are All that slave holders equal, has no right to admit a state into Inim in a slave state is to hold their the Union, public property as it is, withroperty and to use it in a way or man- out throwing it open alike to all Ameriof r they may desire, and to receive that can citizens, slave holders or not slave protection promised by the constitution holders, and to protect each one in his

This guardian possesses no power North and settling amongst them, and under the will or constitution either to equally participating and enjoying their add to or diminish it, but holds all the hare of its comforts and blessings. If benefits, rights and privileges forever in ar constitution guarantees to all Amer- trust, to be equally divided: and any efcan citizens equal rights and privileges, fort, on the part of a few, to lay hold of t would appear that a man with negroes, more than their equitable, proportion, to has just as good a right to settle in a the exclusion of others, all of whom have free state as a man lowning no negroes an equal right, can be counteracted by has a right to settle in a slave state.— ,the legal interposition of said guardian, The one prefers enslaving a white man who is dothed with all the necessary atand his family, free-born citizens of the tributes to carry out the purposes of the United States, and the other prefers get-, will. In case said guardian was or ven ing the work out of negroes. But peo- to that alternative, would any say that de in a free state appear to think that they were robbed of rights guaranteed zens, entirely different and separate in. Congress has no right to add to or to character: one kind who own negroes, diminish the limits of slavery, either in and the other, property of a different a state or territory, no more than she kind, and that it is the latter kind that possesses the right to add to or diminish the constitution intended to say were en- the limits to any other private property. titled to equal rights and privileges, to The constitution draws no line of discrimination between property, but leaves If Congress has the right to admit a negroes as any other property, at the state into the Union, and we are satisfi- discretion of the owners, to be taken any of general protection that our constitu- necessary to unite our grand confederacy tion breathes throughout to every Amer- more strongly in the bonds of amity and ican citzen, afford a tower of defence to good will. which the oppressed can retreat, and The preamble to our constitution dedemand restitution?

thirds of both houses of Congress shall against the liberty of the people by a deem it necessary, shall propose amend- rigid and strict adherence of each one to ments to this constitution, or, on the ap-their chartered limits. Their limits for plication of the legislatures of two-thirds action are to perpetuate and strengthen. of the several states, shall call a conven- and to preserve unimpaired, to the latest tion for proposing amendments, which, posterity, the work that our forefathers in either case, shall be valid to all in-labored to obtain. Their limits are $t\epsilon$ tents and purposes, as a part of this com- strengthen but not to destroy. stitution, when ratified by the legisla- The framers of our consutution, as tures of three-fourths of the geveral though endowed with almost supernatstates, or by conventions in three-fourths unal wisdom and sagacity, explored the thereof, as the one or other mode of dark and gloomy caverns of faturity, the ratification may be proposed by Con-birth-place of tyrants and the usurpers of gress, the constitution, in this case, their country's laws; there they thought just means what is clearly expressed they saw infant monsters in human therein. It cannot be so tortured as to shape, that would, when matured, wresconvey the idea that any power under the with the liberties of their country, the pretext of amending the constitu- and, in pursuance of their well grounded tion, has a right to destroy that justice, tears and apprehensions, have placed domestic tranquility and equal protection the constitution between the people and to every American citizen in all the danger forever, to be called the law of rights, privileges and immunities, under the land, and only admits any amendour constitution labored to maintain. - (If it is a part of the original)-If it might, from time and circumstances, de-meaning-thereby strengthening the mand; and in case of any omission on bond of union between the states instead the part of its original framers of any of impairing it. The thing itself must thing in anywise calculated to render exist in an imperfect shape before an more perpetual and indissoluble that amendment can be conceived necessary. paternal league that should forever ex- The evil must exist before it can be reist-then they possess the right so to moved, or its appearance amongst us amend it as to be enabled to carry out the where, or to any place, at the option of original design of its framers, and to their legal ewners. Does not that spirit make any amendments that may be under its protection and fostering care clares the object in making it was to form a more perfect union between the Is congress appointed to act for the states—to establish fustice, insure dogood of the whole people of the United mestic tranquility, provide for the com-States? or is a state vested with the ex-\mon defence, promote the general wel-ercise of powers to destroy that equality fare, and secure the blessings of liberty that her creator, the constitution, says to ourselves and posterity—and there is shall exist, and which Congress has no living power on earth that has the sworn to sustain? Where does a state right to make any addition thereto, get the right to legislate upon private which does not give strength to all its property? Is it an original right they purposes, spirit and meaning. The claim, that is found amongst uncivilized amendments must be conceived and beings in a state of savage ferocity, made in the same spirit that gave birth where might gives right; where superi- to the constitution. It was made and ority is tested by physical force? or is it intended that all should be equal under an original right, derived from our con- its influence, and any of its creatures stitution, that declares that all are equal? (are only vested with the power to act as Our constitution says, whenever two-sentinels to ward off encroachments our government, which the framers of ments to be called a part of the original That power was given to create and not is a part of the constitution. It can only to destroy, but to make any amendments be so by being made after the model of that the increased wants of posterity the original--in the same spirit and must be anticipated before we can arm a right to amend it agreeably to the true durselves against its influence.

constitution to show that negroes are exist, as to harmonise with its views and not as much protected in the possession intentions. of their owners as any other private property? Does the constitution draw though endowed with rare powers of inany line of discrimination between andi-tellectual research, entertained no favorviduals who may own property of an op- able notions of infallibility. They know posite character? If our constitution that they were only men, and like all of guarantees to all equal rights and privi- the human race, liable to err, and, for leges, neither two-thirds of both houses fear of having fallen short in their efof Congress, nor convention, nor a state forts to promote the grand objects they has a right to decide to the contrary; had in view, appointed agents to make and neither of said bodies assembled, any amendments they might concieve has a right, nor ever had, to say that necessary to complete and make perfect slavery might be introduced or excluded that tower of defence, the constitution. in this or that state or territory to suit. Our constitution says, "No person the will of the majority. The creatures held to service or labor in one state, unan this case cannot be greater than their der the laws thereof, escaping into ancreator. The creator, our constitution, other state, shall, in consequence of any declares that we are all equal, and nei- law or regulations therein, be dischargther of said constituted bodies, all of ed from such service or labor, but shall can destroy that equality. They, as whom such service or labor may be due." sembled, can impart no power to a state. Is there any thing therein to show that or territory that they never possessed.—— this clause has exclusive reference to slaveholder alike with a man owning a essarily follow, by the expression "esdifferent kind of property, and draws no caping into another state," that it was line of discrimination between individue meant to be understood to be a free state. als, but holds out the same inducements. Is it here, where a state conceives the to all-in that case no amendments can right is conceded to legislate on private original. But suppose that it was appa- minish it at the caprice and will of the that general protection to all that was every variety of persons, without regard was intended should exist. They have for security into an adjoining state. I:

spirit and meaning of the constitution. Is there any thing on the pages of our end so to remove said evils, if any should

The framers of our constitution, al-

which are creatures of the constitution, be delivered up on claim of the party to If, then, our constitution guards the a negro and his owner, nor does it necbe made to it, without destroying the property, and either to increase or dirent, from the face of the constitution, majority of one state? Is it from this that it did not afford, in a certain clause, indefinite clause, that embraces almost intended by its framers; even in that to age, party, sex or condition, that they case they would have no right to act have thrown away the true spirit of the otherwise than to take up the constitution and derived the power to tion and to act up entirely and altogethe exclude more than one-half of the peoer to the full spirit and meaning of that ple of the United States from being instrument and the palpable intention of equal participants and sharers in the its trainers—in that case they would blessings of our common country? Is possess no right to say that this or that this the clause, the starting place from private property should be excluded from which scenes of horror, blood and cara state at the option of the imajority in mage have emanated? This provides for said state. But, on the other hand, it the reclamation of slaves, it is true, but would unfold itself as a case that would not any more than it does provide for the come under the immediate jurisdiction reclamation of any other fugitive from of either of the before mentioned con-justice, agreeably to the laws of the stituted bodies to make amendments.—) state. It affords a white man a redress There is a case exposed to their view, for wrongs inflicted on him by his felpresenting an evil that they have the low man and of his own color; it enables power of amending; a principle ambig. the man who has watched with paternal nous in its character, when exercised, solicitude his apprentice, confided to his effectually destroys that equality that care, to claim his services, if he rambles enables the poor man, destitute of the right either to add to or diminish the conveniences and comforts of life, to pur- limits of slavery? sae and recover the price of his labor. Is it not passing strange if a state posfrom one who has retreated into another sesses that right that the word prohibitstate for safety, although surrounded ing slavery never was mentioned in the with all the appendages of wealth; and, Constitution? Suppose that the Constion the other hand, it enables the one tution had made a provision that all work; who hires either labor or services in animals that might stray beyond the limany way for a stipulated amount, to ex-fits of their state should be delivered up act it or its equivalent. All of our in- to their legal claimants, would it be condebtedness, one to another, has grown sidered to apply entirely either to horses, and emanated either from labor or ser- mules or cattle, or to one more than the vices rendered in one way, some in an-jother? Would it not be supposed to emother. Labor is an article of trade and brace all the varieties? Now how maprofit to both contracting parties, and a ny different varieties are there of labor man when he has it to dispose of, when or services—is the poor negro the only. incontrolled, generally hunts out the one alluded to? If the framers of our best market and sells his labor or services' constitution intended that it should have by the day, month or year to the man exclusive reference to master and slave, who will give him the most money, and thereby giving a state the right to make a contract thus made by two white men, it a free state—why, for the first time, by mutual consent, is just as much bind- is the Constitution not explicit and plann, ing as any other contract that could be and say that a state has a right to legismade by the same individuals, agreea-rlate on private property. My to the laws of the state-for instance ! If Congress or a state has a right to I hire a white man for a term of twelve legislate on slavery, they have a right menths, the stipulated price in cash to legislate on any thing else by substiagreed upon in advance -I am now en- tuting the meaning of one word for antoled, if he leaves me, to reach him in other, however different they may be my state, and to recover my money or but to be used in either case to suit ad -ervices-he will be delivered up, not contingenties. It must be onceived as . to take off and sell, but to place in the a plain tact that if a majority in a free two m colors, bond or free, but lays from all persons who are not owners or whithe same law for all to be govern- negroes. The chizens in a free state ofore over his negro that he is equitably limits of the state, not from any feeling as Alegally the owner of during life, but of philanthropy or sympashy for their are that no person held to service or condition, but are actual of by the conoffer in the state, under the laws there- viction that it would be more conducted of, escaping into another shall in conse- to the interest and general prosperity of ands of the law, and to make it ap- state has a right to exclude a man ownear that I am the person to whom his ing negroes from being a citizen therecryice is due. The constitution, in thist in, that a majority in a slave state should ise, draws no line of distinction be-possess a similar right to exclude there-1 v. It not only enables the master ject to negroes remaining within the agence of any law or regulation therein, the state, in additional; preferring these te discharged from such service or la- labor being done by white men; on the or, but shall be delivered up on claim contrary, people in a slave state are just of the party to whom such service or last on the opposite extreme, prefer Laving for may be due. There is nothing all their labor done by negroes. Now. here to show that the reference is more which of the two parties can point to the accepted to master and his negro than to constitution and therein find a clearly nanest every other class of citizens- defined power by which one party is vernat clause does and was intended to act ted with more power than the other.

as a barrier against any injury that one . In 1776, when the Declaration of Instate, when excited by jealousy, might dependence was framed, slavery existe I state, when excited by jealousy, might in all the states but one and all the ter-inflict by legislative enactments or regu-tations on another state. Is there any isss in but fifteen of the thirty-one states thing in that clause that gives a state a of the Union-slavery, is forbidden by James K. Polk approving the act. Sla-) ence of any law and to let loose all the very exists not in Nebraska. By the selfish feelings incident to map, and for admission of free California, and the or- the majority to rule the minority and to ranization of Washington and Oregon divest them of the right of being particle territories, slavery is excluded from the (pants in the blessings of their country, Pacific coast. In Maine, on the Atlan-(if such was their intention, why such extic, on a line through to the Pacific ocean. penditures? Why so much loss of blood? Slavery has been excluded since 1787, Why so many privations and toils? Why and in 1788 even Maine was slave hol- that disinterested sympathy and aid exding as well as all that last territory. tended to them by strangers in their The history of the country has been one struggle for liberty? Why did they not continued advance of freedom over sla- prefer being goaded by the oppressive very ever since 1787. By the admission laws of their mother country and be slaves of free California into the Union, the to kings and lords, in preference to lealine of freedom runs down south to 22 1-2 ving their offspring, each one subject to degrees north latitude, 4 1-2 degrees the unrestrained evil passions of the othsouth of the Missouri line, and it may er, and for might to give right, and only be said that Utah is a free territory.—to be buoyed up by an imaginary idea of The Morinon Bible resists slavery, and liberty. the Mormons themselves forbid the exis. What right has any one to say that If the framers of our Constitution have themselves.

positive law in Oregon and Washington, should be left unrestrained by the influ-

tence of slavery amongst them. The this or that is slave or free territory by Constitution says that Congress and not law or compromise. It matters not how the Mormons shall have power to dispose far north or how far south, how far east of and make all needful rules and regu- or west, they are all equally under the lations respecting the territories or other jurisdiction of Congress, exercising a public property belonging to the United common guardianship for the good of the States. When a state is admitted into whole. It is all nothing more or less the Union the public land within its lim- than public property to which all Amerits yet unappropriated is just as much lican citizens, as heirs under the constrpublic property as it was when a terri-tution, have an equal right to purchase tary, and said lands are consequently un- and settle thereupon—and that cannot be der the supervision of Congress and sub- done by the heirs without the aid and asject to all the rules and regulations that sistance of their common guardian. They Congress is clothed with the power of cannot play snatch game. They cannot exercising, as guardian of the people make might give right; the majority have and for the good of the whole. What no power to exclude the minority from right has any to say that Utah is free being participants therein, but the equiterritory, and will be a free state—that, table proportions must be allotted to them. the Mormons will not tolerate negroes by their guardian, and neither said goarunongst them? What right has any one dian nor any power has any right, either to say that such and such states and ter- by any law or compromise, to make according citories have been made free by law and regulation by the exercise of which any compromise? The moment the United part of said public property, would be so States become in possession of any ter-) converted as to destroy or in any wise ritory it that moment falls in the hands interrupt that equal channel of distrib. of Congress, our common guardian, as tion intended by the constitution. The ablic property, subject to no laws or heirs themselves assembled, wholly and compromise only such as are necessary altogether, or through their representaand right to carry out the purposes of the (tives, have no right to squander away constitution, which said guardian is sworn rights and privileges, to which their late support and which declares all equal, test posterity have an equal claim with granted to the state or Congress the pow- When Utah is knocking at the door or to legislate on private property in op- for admittance into the Union, it matters position to the full spirit and meaning of not whether peopled with Abolitionists that instrument, which makes property or slaveholders, it matters not how great qualifications the test of citizenship with-their aversion to slavery may be, they In a state, if they intended that we are just equal and nothing more than equal under the constitution, to partici- (surrounded by the same household gode) equality between them.

pate in all the rights, privileges and im- of our land has been crimsoned with the munities arising from our government it blood of its citizens, and been made the is all public property, and our common theatre on which cruelty and destruction guardian alone being vested with the has been acted-if, from that cause houspower to make all needful rules and reg- es have been depopulated and exposed rulations concerning it, has the power to to the crackling flames of the incendiary, carry out and act up to the full spirit of who would smile with maniac glee at the will or constitution, thereby admitting the earnest supplication of innocent woit into the Union, as all states should be, man, appealling to hearts of steel for open and ready for settlement to all, re-the preservation of her unfortunate hasgardless of the kind of property that eith- band, and deaf to the infant but earnest er may be possessed of. The Constitu-) appeals of orphan children in behalf of tion has delegated this guardian, Con-their butchered father, who once chergress, with no power to exclude or to be ruped like spring, on his knee, at last in any wise instrumental towards exclu- left lonely wanderers, all of whom with ding any part of said heirs from the full tears of grief and bitter recollections, enjoyment of their equitable proportion, look back to the scenes of destructionto suit the will or caprice of the stron- to the scenes of the last, fond farewell ger party, but, to the contrary, enjoins it of that parental eye, flickering in its on said guardian to act for the good of socket, trying, even in death, to give the whole and to maintain a perfect them one more token of affection; if, by false construction of the constitution This guardian, Congress, cannot comply and by the exercise of a dangerous prinwith the stipulations of the will if she ciple, civil war and all of its concomitdoes not retain the power of governing ant evils have threatened us-if this said estate and distributing it agreeably (beautiful temple of liberty erected by to the instructions therein laid down. No our foreinthers, lighted up with the lamps part of the heirs can violate a settled of freedom and civilization, to which we principle of the will, by which the choice have invited the oppressed nations of the of one would be affected to the excludenth to retreat as an asylum from their sion of another, without coming under oppressors, and which its builders imthe jurisdiction of their common guardi-, plored us to preserve as the work of their an. If then Congress or a state, by an as- hands-if it is now convulsed and tottersumption of power never granted to them ing to and fro with the yawning earthby me the Constitution, has conceived quakes of dissention, and its enemies are the right to legislate on private property, busily engaged in producing the work and if that spirit of proscription has en- of its destruction, which threatens to crush grafted itself in our body politic as an under its ruins, indiscriminately, friends evil that will sooner or later subvert our and foes, would it not be right, all feelliberties, if it has already broken into ing a sense of common danger, to bury the sanctuary of domestic happiness, all causes of discontent, and after spenpeace, tranquility and liberty, for the ding our estate, after the example of the achievement of which our forefathers prodigal son, return to the precepts of lived and died, if, by false construction our fathers and make restitution for the of our Constitution, that has been looked past by a strict adherence to paterna! upon by all natious of the earth as the obligations for the future? If the commost perfect production of human wisdom, stitution gives a state no right to legiscivil war has been waged with all its late on private property, from what source desolating influence-if, from that is it derived? It is contended that the orcause, a brother has stained his hands in dinance of 1787, passed in Congress una brother's blood, and made this land, der the Old Articles of Confederation. is that should be held sacred as the burying a precedent to control our legislation for ground of martyrs of liberty, the slaugh- the territories and States, under our prester ground upon which their sons are to ent form of government? The provibe butchered-if from that cause our sions of that ordinance prohibited slave. country has been laid waste by those with ry from the north west territory, than whom we are connected by all the ties which nothing can be more inconsistent of consanguinity and social relations, and with the powers of the present govern-says, in article 8th, that all debts and en-(exist in the north west territory, if the gagements entered into before the adop-'words all "debts and engagements" can. tion of the constitution, should be as va- (in the nature of possibility, be made anlid against the United States as under plicable to a part of the ordinance, inthe confederacy. All debts and engage-stead of local matters entirely of a differments. What interpretation shall be ent character, then it necessarily icqui on those two words? Can we look lows that it is applicable to all the laws at on them in any other light than as under the confederation. If, then, that being synonymous, expressing the same part of soid ordinance that declares that thing by different words? Are the slavery shall never exist in the porth words "debts and engagements," here west territory, is valid against the Uniused as a part of the Old Articles of ted States, as under the confederation, Confederation? Are they used as ex-then all the provisions under our former pressive of laws passed by Congress un-government, for the establishment of der the Articles of Confederation that laws, are also valid against the United we are still bound to obey? Can any States, as under the confederation. It thing be more absurd? To assume that the words "debts and engagements" are position would be equivalent to contend-(applicable to one law under the Confeding that we now live under a constitution, eration, it is applicable to the whole. the principles of which we can never ex-? Should Congress, under our present croise when the enjoyment of which constitution, regard this ordinance as such an imperfect bond of Union between pose that every part of said ordinance tion fromed the present plan of govern- unanimous adherence to which the States orm a more perfect Union, establish present Union, as it is now proposed) restice, insure domestic tranquility, pro-show:- The north west territory ande for the common defence, promote ceded to the United States by the the general welfare, and secure the bless- al assembly of Virginia, at their bgs of liberty to themselves and posteri- began October 20th, 1783, and ac. promoting of all those grand objects, by was modified by act of assembly of besupporting and engrafting in our govern- cember 30th, 1787, consenting that the and which are calculated to lead directly five nor less than three States, and asto an opposite extreme, if our constitu-\senting to the ordinance of Congress for tion is bound to fulfill a part of that ordi-the government of this territory, which nance that was passed in Congress, ac- (was passed July 13th, 1787-an act to ment. True it is that our constitution ation, declaring that slavery should not clashes with erroneous and unsafe doc. laying down rules for the future governtrines of the former one, which has long ment of said territory, any more than a since been repealed by the adoption of it never had been passed. Why? beanother. Can it be supposed that the cause they were engrafted with and contramers of our Constitution intended that sidered a part of the old articles of conthe Old Articles of Confederation, or any federation, that were considered not only aw passed in Congress in pursuance inefficient to produce the effect desired, Acreof, that would in any wise be cal-(but destructive to liberty, and repugnance ulated to clash with the liberties of the to the full spirit and meaning of the conbecome, should be regarded by our Con-stitution, the adoption of which by the stitution otherwise than with sovereign common consent of the States, had rencente mpt? Can it be argued that all?dered one null and void, and the other meir injurious enactments that formed the supreme law of the land. But supthe states and so entirely inadequate to has been strictly adhered to by Congress. meet the wants and contingencies of the cit cannot in that event be made to apgovernment, should be recognized by pear in any other light than that there our Constitution as a part of the supreme, has been a gross and total departure, en law of the land? Can it be supposed the part of Congress, from the fundamenmat when the framers of our Constitu- tal principles of our government, by the sucht, and declared their object was to were actuated when they formed our T. I say it is possible that the framers by the Congress of the United States door Constitution could have had the March 1st, 1784. The act of Virginia ment doctrines repugnant to its spirit, territory be divided into not more than ting under the old Articles of Confeder- provide for the government of the terriapproved August 7th, 1789. This ter- (on by the United States in Congress asrmory was divided into two separate goversembled, or any nine of them or more. ernments by act of Congress, May 7th, We see here an inclination, unanimous 1800. The north western territory ce- on the part of all the States, acted out, to - ded by the commonwealth of Virginia, endow and clothe Congress with the unwas the subject of special legislation by restricted power to act in this matter for the Congress of the confederation, first the good of the whole, as their common by the passage of a resolution for its guardian. Each State throws all their government, on the 23d of April 17S4, supposed claims and rights to territories, and then by the adoption of an ordinance, as common stock in the hands of their which was sanctioned by Congress on guardian, to be distributed in way and the 13th of July, 1787—the sixth arti-manner aforesaid, for the good of the cle of which declares that neither slave-twhole, and enjoins it on said guardian, ry nor involuntary servitude shall exist as part of the supreme law of the land m said territory. When our constitutional which can never be countermanded, tion was drawn up and reported, there to erect in each State a republican Govexisted in some States a distrust and well ernment. Congress, under these circumgrounded apprehension that it was mea-) stances, clothed with unlimited powers pable and entirely inefficient to promote in this case, and of the people's own the great object of equality and justice (choice, and of which said guardian nevthat all were desirous should exist be-)er can be divested, all obstacles being retween individuals and States. The moved to the ratification of the constitu-States had claimed extensive limits of tion, it was completed on the 1st March. territory, and each one ambitiously grasp- 1781. The articles being dated the 9ta ing at territories, to which neither one July, 1778, and this completed the bond had an exclusive right, neither of whom of union of the thirteen original States, would have used with greater modera whose delegates assembled in Congress, tion or justice, the increase of power continued to legislate and execute the and wealth derived from those territo- powers of the United States, under the ries, when acquired than what they dissipritcles of confederation, until the 4th played instheir endeavors to acourte them. March, 1789, when, by their resolution such being the general feeling of exist of the 13th September, 1788, the constiting differences between the States in tution of the United States, also adopted relation to the territories. Finally, at- and ratified by the people of the said ter finding all other expedients ineffect original States, went into operation. tual it, promoting the ends of justice, and forming thereby a more perfect umon or in order to remove the only obstacle to the the people for the government of the the final ratification of the constitution, United States. it was resolved in Congress of the con- . In the short space of four years alfederation, on the 10th October, 1780, ter, the States had enjoined it on Conthat the unappropriated lands that may gress to receive from them all territories be ceded to the United States or reline to be thrown in by the States as conquished to the same by any particular monstock for the good of the whole, and by te, pursuant to the recommendation turther enjoining them to form a repulli-Sourngress of the 6th Dec. 1779, shall can government in each and every State bein by osed of for the common benefit of that might thereafter be formed with a Sost pe ited States, and all have the same the limits of said territories to be endowed ful was sovereighty, freedom and inde- with all the powers of sovereighty, righ s produce as the the other States; that and privileges of outzons of the United each State that shall be so formed shall con- States. This northwest territory was rain a suitable extent of territory, not less (made a case of special legislation by the than 100 nor more than 150 miles square, confederation, first by the passage of a or as near thereto as circumstances will resolution for its government, on the 23d admit, and be settled and formed into April, 1781, and an ordinance of Condistinct republican States, which shall gress passed for the Government of this become members of the federal Union. (territory, July 13th, 1787, thereby ex-That the said lands shall be granted or cluding slavery from said territory, settled at such time and under such reg- by which only one party who might be tory north west of the river Ohio, was julations as shall hereafter be agreed up-thions could be enabled to remain within excludes from said territory slavery. the limits of said territory, thereby erec- Is this one of the debts or engagements, ting an anti-republican form of govern-if they can be so classed, that is just as ment in said territory.

were ever studious to retain the reins of engagements, which our said guardian government in their own hands, it ap-lis bound to discharge—it is impossible. peared that Congress was only the in- in the nature of things, for both to be strument of administering justice, pro-liquidated. viding for the common defence, &c., sub- Our said guardian, Congress, has said respective territories a republican foundation, as was then fondly hoped, government with equal rights and prive forming a Union founded upon the linneges, subsequent to that constitutional republican principles, characterized provision for making disposition of the (a strict sense of justice and equal) public lands and the government to be severy American citizen-burying created therein upon republican princi- distinctions without any regard to dinance sanctioned by Congress, the by their manifestations of patriotism and possessed of the legal property qualifica- (13th July, 1787, which said ordinance valid under the Constitution as the con-The states, prior to the constitution, sederacy? Now here are two debts or ject at all times to be controlled by the transcended the limits laid down for her will or inclination of individual states; action-her contracts transcended her that inordinate thirst for power manifest-) means—and it is impossible for but one ed by the states might have been pre- to be fulfilled. The first is agreeably to sumed to be forever quelled, after wit-7 the full spirit and meaning of our Connessing its destructive influences, and stitution, and upon the faithful discharge after, by common consent, each state hav- of which our happiness and liberties deing relinquished its right to the territory, pend—the other is unsanctioned by our to the United States, for the good of the Constitution, is anti-republican in its whole. Here, now, is a case of import character, robs American citizens of their tance presented to our view, and I here equal rights and privileges, guaranteed deem it necessary to show that the ord. to them by the Constitution, and subjects nance declaring that the north-west ter-) the minority to the compulsive restricretory should be free, and all subsequent tions of the majority. In the passage of laws and compromises by which slavery said Ordinance, there is exhibited a has been excluded from any state or ter- most flagrant and daring outrage of prinritory, either by Congress or a state, are ciples and usurpation of power almost null and void and repugnant to all the unparalleled in the history of our counleading principles of territorial and state try. Here is presented to our view the governments that united us together as original States, at one time cherishing confederate states. As mentioned, the all the principles of justice and equality states before the final adoption of the and regarding the public territories as Constitution made a surrender of all public property, that had been game ! their right of territory to the United from the king of Great Britain or the In-States, to be used for the good of the dians, by the blood and treasure of all, whole, without any reference to any geo.) and ought therefore to be a common esgraphical distinction, party or sect, and tate to be granted out on terms equally confided said territories in the hands of beneficial to every American citizen .-their common guardian, Congress, to be Such emongst other noble purposes of distributed, without any distinction, for like character and mutually entertained the good of the whole, said guardian -it was that dispersed all the eleguaranteeing to each and every state ments of dissention existing under the that might be erected within the limits of articles of confederation and laid the ples. The north-west territory ceded by party or sect, or geographical times of the commonwealth of Virginia to the distinction. Our Constitution was framed United States, for purposes before men-(on the bread principle of equality, guartioned, was made the subject of special anteeing to each and every State in the legislation by the Congress of the Confed- Union a republican form of government, eration, first by the passage of a resolu- But that feeling was of short duration tion for its government on the 23d April, and those same States that had so re-1784, and then by the adoption of an or-cently rendered themselves conspicuous a commendable ardor for the promotion relinquished, ceded to no particular states. of the public good, assumed the daring but to the United States, to be confided responsibility of revoking the principles in the hands of Congress, a common of our government and which each state guardian, acting agreeably to instrucwas solemnly bound to observe. By ma- (tions, for the good of the whole, and king the northwest territory ceded by thereby nurturing and sustaining the amthe State of Virginia to the United states bitious, grasping inclination of the terfor the public good, a case of special ritories for the emoluments of indepenlegislation, thereby passing an ordinance dent states, that had been so recently the in direct opposition to all their former/cause of strife amongst the states? Is protestations, declaring that slavery (this surrender of the whole north-west should never exist within the limits of territory to a part of American citizens, said territory, and free only to that part (classed with all debts that is bound to be of the American citizens who might fulfilled under the Constitution, as under turing with them the right kind of prop-title confederacy, that excludes more erty qualifications, thereby erecting an than one half American citizens from anti-republican government in its char- (the rights of settlement within the linacter and entirely at variance with all lits of said territory, to which all had an the principles of a republican govern-(equal right? ment, which our Constitution guarantees) to each state. Here is one amongst the which it was ceded to the United States first aggressions against the equal rights for the public good, was accepted by the of the people by legislation on the sub- Congress of the United States, March ject of slavery, and can be adverted to 1st, 1754. Is that ordinance that was as almost the exclusive source from passed at that time, which is not sancwhence that inequality in all the rights tioned by any law or precedent and in and privileges has emanuated and the direct violation of the settled agreement starting place of all jealousies and divi- between the states, to be considered as an sions relating to the subject of negrolengagement, valid under our Constitu-the United States to be appropriated as (and promote all the feelings of strife and atoresaid by the general assembly of Vir- jealousy, and to array section against ginia, at their session begun October section, interest against interest, and 20th, 1783, and accepted by the Con- man against his fellow man, then agreegress of the United States, March 1st, ably to the same expression, we are 1754. That cession was not more than equally bound to be governed by all the made and accepted by the Congress of articles of the confederacy. the United States, before Virginia as-/ I say, if words, "debts and engagesumed the right to legislate for said ter- ments," mentioned in the 6th article of mory, after having relinguished all our Constitution, was intended to be atrights to sames therein to the United phed to the oppressive conditions imposed. States for the common good. The act by the confederacy—if it was intended of Virginia was most field by a coffast that the words "all debts and encage-Tably, December 30th, 1788, consent-ments' should embrace all laws of the out that the territory le divided into not contederacy, to le as valid under our post pe ssenting to ordinance of Congress in would then appear very clear that we Ivil was te government of this territory, now live under a Constitution the ever-What was passed July 13th, 1757.— cise of the principles of which to mea What right had Virginia, after having for the general good, would depend ensurembered all her claim to said terri-tirely upon the restrictions imposed upon Lav to the United States for the public (us by the confederacy to be observed, states, and what right had Congress to of the confederation, all of which is just act in direct opposition to the express as valid under the Constitution as under conditions upon which said territory was the confederacy, one just as much bind-

This territory and the terms upon tion, if we recognise that unconstitution-This north-west territory was ceded to, all ordinance that is calculated to nurture

h b, than five nor less than three states, Constitution as under the conteleracy. good, to modify any act by which she and that we had no right to act up to would be instrumental in violating a sol-(its full spirit and meaning, provided it cum agreement entered into by all the clashed with any debts or engagements ever destructive it might be to the peace that claims its origin in violating obliand prosperity of the Union. Can it gations mutually agreed upon, and enhe supposed that it was intended, when gagements acquiesced in for the good of our constitution was adopted by the the whole, which engagements, notwithstates, affording to every American citi- standing the ardor with which they have zen equal rights and privileges, and been pursued by the opponents of equal guaranteeing to every state a republican rights and privileges—they stand in form of government, that the framers of bold defiance to the ambitious designs of that instrument intended that the princi- demagagues, and view with contempt ples of the confederacy should be en-the raging spirit of fanaticism. grafted therein, from which the states, surrender which the states made of their by their united struggles and surrender, respective territories under the confedwere released. recommendation contained in the reso- ably to said recommendation of congress, lution of congress, of the 6th December, is also a debt or engagement, made by 1780, the following states made cessions mutual consent, and now composes that of territory to the United States at the part of our constitution which relates to dates respectively stated: The state of territories and states, and the govern-New York, on March 1st, 1781; the ment thereof, making it a part of the state of Virginia, on March 1st, 1784; supreme law of the land, and all laws Massachusetts, on April 19th, 1785; and compromises made at variance Connecticut, Sept. 14th, 1786, and con-therewith, null and void. firmed May 30th, 1800; South Carolina \ If the words 'debts and engagements,' August 9th, 1787; North Carolina Feb. which are synonymous in their mean-25th, 1790; Georgia April 24th, 1802; (ing. having reference to debts, contracts, and in the congress of the confederation grants, &c., could be made applicable to of date 10th October, 1780, it was resol-(all the ordinances and laws passed unved "that the unappropriated lands that der the confederation, we would be in may be ceded or relinquished to the the same condition that we were prior United States, by any particular state, to the adoption of the constitution. pursuant to said recommendation of con-the framers of our constitution intended gress, of the 6th September, 1780, shall that any law of congress of the confedbe disposed of for the common benefit of eration should come in contact with the United States, and be settled and equal rights and privileges that they laformed into distinct republican states, bored to promote, why guarantee to which shall become members of the fed-(each state a republican government, and eral Union, and have the same rights promising to all equal - 21.4 of sovereignty, freedom and indepen- (leges, and declaring dence as the other states." Can we and the laws of the United and view the surrender of this north-west shall be made in pur and and territory, and all other territories, to be all treaties made, when shall be settled by only a part of American citi- made under author to of the United zens, all of whom had an equal right, in States, shall be the upreme law of the any other light, than as a gross and pal-\land, and the judg a in specialized pable departure from the principles by shall be bound there , any thirs which each state was actuated? How constitution or laws 1 any size little it comports with the power vested contrary notwithstanc age Smile in congress, by mutual consent, to erect instance, that the thir energia a republican government in all the states (after having, agrees 'y to the that may be created within said territo-\mendation of congres after all ries, and extending to all the same linquishing their ter mental the same rights and privileges? Can this usurpa- ted States for the con the control of the states for the tion of power be so tortured as to be re-the place of passing t cognized as one of the debts or engage- had, by the same us attor of power ments that are as valid under our con- passed an ordinance () and an are the stitution as under the confederacy, or is ly opposite character, by the exercise of it not an illegal debt, an unjust obliga-\which all persons would have been extion, an engagement sanctioned by no cluded from being residents therein ing on our government as another, how- law or precedent, and the foul offspring In pursuance of the eracy, for the good of the whole, agree-

said orionance

now be construed as one of the debts or publican government.

privileges to all.

who were not slave-holders, would that tution, and to all the principles of a re-

would it not be recognized as null and to add to or diminish the limits of slavevoid, and a violation of a former com-pact that we were bound to adhere to. pose that a state possesses that power. Now what is the difference: here are if it was possible, agreeably to to the two parties, each one contending for the rules of honest construction, to conceive ascendancy-one party says that said a case wherein a state was exclusively territories shall be settled only by that independent of this common guardian, class who are not owners of negro . and left without any restraint imposed the other party declares that it shall leftly the constitution; then any such state settled only by slave-holders. Each or states would be the exclusive sovparty with their property, although en- reigns, and their decisions, however in-tirely dissimilar in its character, is jurious and oppressive to a part of its equally protected by our constitution, citizens, could not be revoked nor counwhich also guarantees equal rights and teracted, in consequence of their being no restraining power to protect the mi-Why should we boast of being nur- nority against the oppressive conditions tured in the land of liberty? Why talk imposed by the majority, but would be about our Union, and ask for a perpetu- forced to bow, with implicit obedience, ation of the blessings we all in common to the mandates of their rulers and sovenioy? Delusive idea! Habit has ac-{reigns; but, under our federal constitucustomed us to the pangs of oppression, tion, guarded as it is at every vulneraand we, like victims of a disease that ble point by its guardian, no such case we have in no way been instrumental in could ever occur, only from a gross depromoting, thank Heaven that it is no parture, on their part, from the great No-we are no longer a union (fundamental principles that they were of states-a union implies harmony in created and appointed to protect. The all its parts. Can a man in this boast- blessings emanating from our constitued land of republicanism transcend the tution being recognized as a common limits of his state with a certain species estate, and all American citizens being of property and make any certain calcu- equal heirs thereto, the question naturlations that he will not be plundered ally arises-how, and by whom are we and robbed before he returns? Can we to get in possession of it? Shall we reconceive any two nations of people, how-cognize the will as the standard to be ever different their forms of government) governed by, and claim at the hands of may be, in whose breasts greater jeal- our common guardian the equal portion ousies and hatred exists than there does guaranteed to us by that instrument? or amongst people of our own blood, and shall we, as heirs to a common estate, bone of our own bone; and have we not be forced to view with abject and tacit a right to ask to have this obstacle re-\servility, and without any remedy, said moved, that has, in violation of the con-(guardians scattering the constitution to station, excluded a part of American the fore-winds of heaven, losing sight of ons from their equal rights and solmn oaths and obligations, obligatory eges, and has planted and nourish- on them to discharge; who, by their ur midst an anti-republican gov- acts and acquiescence, suffer the major-'t instead of a republican govern- ity in a state to rob the minority of their guaranteed to us by the constituted dearest reserved rights, guaranteed to tion, and has produced that deadly strife, every American citizen by the constituthat any two governments so different tion, and which said guardians were apin their characters are likely to produce. pointed to protect. I look upon the re-The constitution protects all American served rights of the people, embodied in citizens alike. and guarantees to all the constitution, as a conveyance of the equal rights and privileges as American (same to its created agents, appointed by citizens, and, legislating upon private that instrument to hold them forever in properts, is in opposition to our constitute for the equal benefit of all to the

and forever defend them.

If congress is recognised as one of the slavery, only through congress. guardians or agents appointed for pur-Congress would, by her acts, be assumposes aforesaid, and to support the con-ling the exercise of a power she never stitution, and act for the good of the possessed, consequently, she cannot adwhole, it is clear that it possesses no mit a state into the Union with a constipower to admit a state into the Union tution prohibiting slavery, from the simwith a constitution prohibiting slavery—ple fact, that it can impart no power to by which one party would be excluded a state that it never possessed. I therefrom the privilege of becoming residents fore asume the position, that congress is therein—it produces an inequality in a not only bound to reject a constitution state, through the instrumentality of prohibiting slavery, but any other concongress, thereby producing an effect stitution so presented to that body, directly opposite to the attributes of wherein it is in any way apparent, by power designed by the constitution to be the exercise of any principle therein conferred on congress.

present a constitution to congress where-) stitution of the United States. ed for her acceptance repugnant to the said guardian, appointed to protect it. spirit of her mission, and calculated to Congress has no right, and cannot destroy that equality designed by her agreeably to the con: on or creator, the constitution, forever to ex- ted States to admit ar can admit a state into the Union with a destroy that domestic harmony constitution restricting slavery, she can equality that was incended to be admit a state into the Union with a con-Served. A constitution present stitution excluding property of any other congress for acceptangle can out kind. Congress has no right to admit a galized by that body or bein state into the Union with a constitution in the same spirit and means. prohibiting slavery from the following constitution of the U1 and State er property, and congress is one of the I therefore assume guardians appointed to protect that in- that we all, as Americ cognized as an act of congress by which tories, and it matters not what kind of latest posterity, and to guard, protect, slavery was excluded from such state.-· A state having no power to exclude contained, that any American citizen Suppose a territory, asking admittance would be robbed of their equal rights into the Union as a sister state, should and privileges, guaranteed by the con-in there was a clause prohibiting the? True it is, the bona fide settlers in a introduction of mules in such state: I) territory are permitted to form their imagine, there is no one that would be- own constitution. That is as it should lieve that congress had a right to admit be; but nevertheless, in the forming of a state into the Union under such cir-their constitution they are subject to the cumstances; it would be recognized not constitution of the United States, that only as an innovation, but as a doctrine, protects slavery, and no doctrine can be if carried out, calculated to produce an engrafted in their social compacts, that inequality, thereby robbing a part of clashes or comes in contact with that American citizens of their equal rights instrument, the head and fountain of all and privileges, and pregnant with dan-) sovereignty, to which all are subject .gerous consequences, which congress It then necessarily follows, that said would have a right to reject. Then it bona fide settlers cannot attempt to viowould only be fulfilling the high and late any of its settled principles without important obligations imposed on her by being rejected in their demands, and her creator, by rejecting a case present- rendered subject to the interposition of ate into The constitution draws no line of ion with a constitution of war sometimes discrimination between property, but all true spirit and mean. of that in truis equally protected; and, if congress) ment, or that is in anywise calculated to facts: In the first place it is in opposition (guarantees to every to a regulation) of the constitution of the U.S., recognizing form of government, anded upon and protecting slavery, as it does any oth- broad basis of the mo onthe equality mad ground, strument. 2nd. Any action or acquir a right, at this very time, and always escence on the part of congress to ex- have had, a right to move and settle in clude slavery in a state, or states, is re-(any state in the United States or terri-

state to the contrary.

or laws of any state to the controry not- our constitution was adopted. withstanding.

is no difference, in either case. Either gle for liberty, the framers of the con-

property we take with us, we are all en-granted to any state, would exclude the titled to equal protection by the constitution of party, when both are recognized tion against any taws passed by any as equals under the constitution, and consequently both parties having the The constitution declares that it is the same right to settle with their property supreme law of the land, and all laws in any of the United States or territories, made in pursuance thereto; and the and which equal right no power on judges in every state shall be bound earth has any right to divest either parthereby—any thing in the constitutionary of. That equality existed long before If slaves are property, early settlement of the colonies and and if our constitution guarantees to each; states the same inducements were held and every American citizen the right of out to all to settle and become residents property, and extends to all equal pro-therein. Even in those days, under tection in all the rights and privileges their imperfect form of government, the under our government, then, as before i question was never agitated whether the stated, we all have a right and an equal owners of negroes had not the same right, to emigrate, not only into the ter- right to settle and to be protected with ritories, but into any state in the United his negroes, as his neighbor had, who States, and to take with us our property; owned property of a different character. it matters not whether it consists of Such were the feelings generally enterhorses, mules, cattle or negroes-we all tained, before our present constitution have an equal right—and neither party was adopted; but still they were only in can, under the constitution, claim any possession of this large estate, held in more, or be put off with any less; and if common by them all, without any disa man should move his negroes into any tinctions as aforesaid—all enjoying state in opposition to the laws of said equal rights and privileges, without any state, by which the introduction of ne- guarantee of a continuation of its blessgroes are prohibited therein, he would smgs. It was subject at all times to the have a right, as an American citizen, most arbitrary and blighting influence. and as an equal participant in all the imposed by exactions by our unnatural blessings of our common country, to parent, old England, that placed, not claim that protection against the inva-only said estate, but also their lives in sion of his equal rights, guaranteed to jeopardy. An estate thus held, could be every American citizen, by the constitue; but little appreciated, unless released tion. Now Missouri is a slave state, from the grasp of a people who had fatand I imagine that there is no party-stened on extortion and injuries. That man, however his party views might be claim has long since been released, and blunted by sectional strife, if there was the price paid in the blood of our forenow, or should be, an attempt made to fathers. All doubts then being removexclude all men from the north from the ed, they proclaim to the world that they privilege of settling therein, in conse- are free, and form a constitution, connuence of not being the owners of ne- firming their former title in all the equal oes, but what would openly declare rights and privileges, and for the fur-· hostility to such a measure, and ther purpose, agreeably to their own look upon it as a daring usurpa- declaration of forming a more perfect nower, and calculated to subvert union than even then existed, establish erties and happiness of the op-justice, insure domestic tranquility, pro-party, and by which the equal vide for the common defence, promote rights and privileges, guaranteed to the general welfare, and secure the them by the constitution, would be for- blessings of liberty to themselves and ever lost. Now, what is the difference, posterity. Fearing, however, that quiet if such a case should occur: would it af-) possession of all the blessings therein ford any but a parallel case with the enumerated might, in some degree, imnorth, who conceive that they possess the pair that feeling of equality, intended to right to exclude from the north all who exist, and by which feeling of equality, are owners of negroes? I say that there all were actuated in their united strugparty, by an assumption of power never stitution appointed guardians to carry it fided to their care. the will, can only be perpetuated by a of the United States, as sentinels, placed strict adherence to all the requisitions) on the watch-tower of our liberties, have of said will by said guardians, who are a right to declare all such laws. made clothed with no power to make any sur-in violation of the constitution, null and other words, to minors nor children of with his property, equally with the indimature age, and by which surrender vidual entitled to trial by jury, or to the their duties as laid down in the will man to the liberty of speech, or to the would, in anywise, be lessened or dimin- editor the freedom of the press; then it ished. True it is, the states are sov- follows, if negroes are property, that reign states, but to what extent does any state or states, that has or have, by their sovreignty enxtend? is the ques- assumption of power never intended to state alone consists in the free and un- negroes from being residents within the molested privilege of the exercise of limits of any state or states, it necessaricertain powers, granted to the states in ly follows, that they have transcended their separate capacities, by the constitute limits of their capacity, and violated tution, and nothing more. It is very one of the most sacred powers reserved clear, that there are reserved powers for the good of the whole, and which for the good of the whole, which neither guarantees to every American citizen, a state, nor the United States, assem- the right of property-and which, morebled in their legislative capacity, dare over, comes under the jurisdiction of the touch or agitate, much less act upon .- aforesaid guardians, who have a right But to the contrary, in case of an usure to pronounce it null and void, any thing pation on the part of any particular in the constitution or laws of any state state, of any of the powers reserved for to the contrary, notwithstanding. tha good of the whole, and not granted, If slaveholders had been indulged in to any state by the constitution, then said the same wild spire of userpation, and state would be subject to the interposi- had been tolerated in driving from slave tion of said guardians, who were ap States all persons who owned property pointed to guard the reserved rights of of a contrary kind, wealth ney now have the people, and sworn to support the the audacity to add ashed to injury, and constitution. For instance: if a state, call it an original is ht, sanctioned by misconceiving her sovereign capacity, precedent and example? No-like some were to grant titles of nobility, abridge foul cancerous sore that has with insite the freedom of the press, establish a ous progress seated itself in the particular form of religion to the exclu- gigantic frame of the sufference sion of all others, and abolish the right sorts to the application of all of trial by jury, would it not strike us ing and and allevising pre with the most irresistable conviction, relieve the pangs o morner that said state had violated and acted (in the mean time watering upon the sacred and settled principles of expand, which, at least ball so the the constitution, that never were intend-\mon remedies, he at last as compelled ed to be agitated or thrown in the shape to apply the proper servedy. Let us of controversy, put reserved without any now, in our crippled condition, after bechange forever, immutably the same, for ing baffled in our bealing a storatives, the good of the whole. Would it not apply the Constituti ..., and live a to us be apparent that said state had violated full spirit before the disease becom-2 the settled principles of a still higher master of our body politic, and not defer out, with power to enforce its true spirit; head and fountain of all sovereignty. and meaning, Said guardians were and would not so gross a violation of the created for the purpose of holding in very tundamental principles of our govtrust said estate, for the common benefit ernment, present to our view a case that of all, to be handed down by them to the would come under the jurisdiction of latest posterity, in the same equal and (said guardians, sworn to support the undiminished manner as when first con- constitution, and clothed with full power This can only be to enforce its true spirit and meaning? effected, and that equality intended by Would not congress and the president render to any territory or state, or in void? Our constitution protects a man The sovereign power vested in a be granted, excluded masters with their sovereign power, the constitution, the the remedy until the application would endanger the life of the patient. But seek its level, and to find its own chansuppose slaves to be either a curse or a nel. All American citizens thereby blessing to their owners, and if they would be equally protected in their rights prove to be a curse to their owners, where guaranteed to them by the Constitution, did a State get the right to dare to touch and would effectually remove the minorit in any shape more than to admit ne-lity beyond the reach of oppressive leggroes and their masters, upon an equal islation on that subject by the majorifooting with owners of any other kind of \ty. property, all of whom under the Constitution are equal. If Congress has no a right to make laws to the exclusion of right to lessen or to increase the limits one party, as they have when said terriof slavery-if that body possesses no tory is made a State. That is to say, power to legislate private property in cr, both are under the guardianship of Conout of a State or Territory can it be sup-{gress, and if either pass any laws that posed that a State possesses that power, conflict with the will or Constitution, People in a State have no right to legis and thereby impair its validity before late on that subject. Just in either way, the distribution is made by said guardithe majority in a State has the same an in a way therein described, they are right to make a free State that a majori- then and under them circumstances ty in another has to make a slave State, equally subject to the control of said That is to say, that neither has the pow-(guardian, whose duty it is to carry out er, or any right, to act on that subject, the will to its full meaning and spirit .as in eitheir case that kind of property When a territory is ripe for admittance by legislation would be either increased into the Union, the children all having in its limits, or diminished; and in eith arrived at twenty-one years, the guardier case one party excluded both of whom an has just to discharge the obligations her option destroy a settled principle of said estate equally. This can only be the Constitution? And can the congress done by this same regularly constituted on the watch-tower of our liberties, in pursuance to that instrument, which

Union, the public land is just as much must be legally the owners of it, by under the jurisdiction of this guardian, equal distribution, made by their guar-Congress, as the territory was before it dian agreeably to the will, before they may desire to emigrate thereto, regard- ist. less of the kind of property either may \ For instance, a man 'dies, who leaves

People in a territory have just as good have an equal right. Can one State at imposed by the will—that is, to divide of the United States, and the President, guardian, Congress; and it must be made sworn before Almighty God to support enjoins it on said guardian to make all the Constitution, be the tacit observers equal, and to maintain that equality of encroachments made by one party in amongst them. Thus legally possessed a State against the rights of another par- of it by their guardian, each one being ty, guaranteed to them by the Constitutional Congress has the power to make tion, they can pass any laws relative to all needful rules and regulations respec- the governing of their domestic concerns, ting territories or other public property. (that they may conceive most productive When a State is admitted into the lift their interests and welfare. The he irs -recame a State. There the property is have the power of managing it. When has to be equally divided, agreeably legally possessed of it agreeably to the vill, and this guardian acting for Constitution they are not prohibited from and sworn to make them all managing their domestic concerns, and und so to admit a State into making their laws and regulations to n such a manner as to be en-|suit themselves, provided, nevertheless, ake the equitable dividend, they make no laws that will in any wise by a reging it open to be settled equal impair that feeling of harmony and equaland alike by all American citizens who ity that was intended should always ex-

be possessed of. Let Congress pass that an immense estate to be equally divided law for the good of the whole people. __ amongst a numerous family of sons, and The limits of slavery thereby would be there is a regularly appointed guardian neither increased or diminished by said to administer to each son, upon arriving action of Congress, but left like water to to the years of twenty-one their equal the will of their father. A part of said upon, and put in the scales to be weighed, estate consists of a very extensive farm, when Brennus threw his sword and hilt on which a part of said sons have located into the scale, crying out in a menacing themselves, and not yet twenty-one years tone vo viotis, wo to the conquered. of age, and consequently under the gui- \ The Romans, sometime before that, redance and superintendence of this guar-) called Camillus from banishment, and dian, and it appears that those minors before the price of peace was paid he aron said estate have already declared hos- rived with an army that he had prepard tility to each other, from the fact of their for the crisis, ordered them to take away being divided into two parties, and each the gold, saying that the liberties of party being determined to held said es. Rome had been obtained by steel, and tate to the exclusion of the other, when not with gold. Let us recall our Constithey should become of age. At length tution, and like the contrite Romans, exthey arrive at the age of twenty-one (press to all the world the injury it years, and it appears that they are inflex- has received at our hands, and let our ible in the determination they expressed steady adhesion to all its principles be when minors, each party contending to the steel through which our lost rights hold said estate to the exclusion of the are to be redeemed and perpetuated .other brothers, and moreover claim the Can the body politic be relieved from its right so to make laws and regulations to present deplorable condition without the suit—that by their exercise they will be application of the proper remedy? As enabled to entirely exclude the weaker well might a man who had been blessed party from being residents thereon. In with the best Constitution, suffer himself this case how should this guardian act to fall into one excess of debauchery afwho was appointed to administer to each ter another, relying upon a repetition of one his equitable proportion? Would be like excess to cure the thirst for the inbe fulfilling the responsible duties im. toxicating poison, until at last his emaciposed upon him by the will to surrender ated frame is bowed down, no longer to them the unrestrained right to carry bearing any representation to his former their threats into execution, by which self, he becomes a companion of beggars the minority would be entirely excluded and the dwelling place of wretchedness by the majority from being residents and woe. There are but few instances thereon? A State just admitted, is as on record where the first usurper of his much under the guardianship and juris- country's laws has subverted the liberties diction of Congress as it was when a of the people. No, it is his successors territory. In the former case, the time that are to be dreaded, each one of whom, has arrived, the children all having ar-\(\dagger\) steady, progressive steps become rived at mature age, for the guardian to more lawless, when at last they come make the division. In the latter, the with garments steeped in blood, surroun-efit of the heirs when they do become of bid defiance to . In sect their country, age. When Camillus was surrounded Only vest any priver with the exercise by talse accusations, and banished from of a privilege by which has equality a the city of Rome by his persecutors- American citiz in all their . when he arrived near the capital, and on and privileges, v the road to his place of lanishment, he all is lost that is v prayed and called the immertal gods to habit make an i witness, if the Roman citizens had per-stution less injuric secuted him with false accusations, and (interest of the pecbanished him without just grounds, that to be dreaded? they would soon repent of it, and express creature of the as ation, has a to all the world the want of Camillus. right to agitate to till the principle, so Shortly after his banishment, Brennus, fixed by her create a wever to be thrown proportion of said estate, agreeably to mans, the price, to be paid in gold, agreed e destroy - aservin and happ If the unsu " lite, an in thir the Gaulish general, entered the city of in to the shape from rowers. which Rome, with his formidable army, exerci-) settled principle distance il eaged there sing the uncontested sway over the lib-(she has a right to the and registate erties of the people. Terms of peace were on any other settled principle in our Connegotiated between Brennus and the Ro-stitution. Carry out this principle and majority in legislating on the reserved furiously tears his heart assunder and rights of the people with the power of stretches her victim on the ground, she excluding or retaining a party agreeably soars aloft and maintains her former to their views and decisions, and where height all covered with wounds, when would it end? Religious freedom and soon some whispering breeze warns her privileges would languish and die, or its of approaching danger, the well directed adherents, in imitation of former martyrs, blows of the rugged woodsman with his would exemplify their rectitude of con-hardened steel confirms her fears. Alscience by a disregard of life, prolonged though much weakened from the loss of at the expense of violated feelings .- \ blood, she again descends from her lof-Only rest any power on earth with the ty habitation to defend her stand, when right to legislate on the settled princi- lo, to her dismay, the birds of the forest, ples of our Constitution, intended forever) the screech owl, the companion of midto be retained by the people as a shield night spirits, and the croaking ravin all of protection against the pointed arrows conspire to destroy her. With well apof their oppressors, and we will live to plied strokes the axemen avail themsee its death, like some huge venerable selves of the golden chance and at length oak, on whose lefty top the eagle, after those noble boughs, that for years have soaring through distant lands, at last waved in bold defiance to the storm, falls. found her resting place and brought forth and as though sensible of the injury, her young, and with flapping wings and arouse the whole neighborhood, all of eyes of fire, bid defiance to all the feath- whom visit the old family tree and over eyes of fire, one defiance to an the feath, whom visit the old failing the land of cred tribe, at last she sees the rude are, it a deep melancholy lend, and drop a man beneath at the work of destruction, tear or two at the recollection of former she pounces from her lofty habitation happy days forever gone.

where would it end? Only tolerate the , and with well-directed claws to his breast,

